Two Local Cases Tried At Salem

Two verdicts of guilty were confirmed in Superior court in Salem this week on appeals from decisions handed down by Lawrence District court on serious charges.

Earl H. Downs of River street, Ballardvale, was found guilty in Superior court yesterday morning on a charge of misappropriation of an automobile, and was given a sentence of three months in the house of correction. He appealed from the original District court decision last September.

Downs was convicted of misappropriation of the car of Harold Baker, also of Ballardvale, from a parking lot at the Shawsheen mill earlier that month.

Henry J. Gregorowicz of 124½ Franklin street, Lawrence, was found guilty on charges of trespass and assault with a dangerous weapon on George Jacobson of River road, on October 20. He was given a sentence of three months in the house of correction, sentence being suspended and Gregorowicz

War Service Group Is Being Organized

Neighborhood Leaders To Assist Householders

The War Services Division in Andover is now being organized by Mrs. M. Phillips Graham, 6 Johnson road, as chairman. Probably few people know just what the duties of the War Services Division are. This division has been set up by the Office of Civilian Defense in Washington, with its counterpart under the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety, to help housewives with the many problems which will confront them in adjusting their lives to difficulties of rationing and other war problems.

The organization is set up in much the same way as the air raid warden system. Under the general chairman, the following are precinct chairmen: Mrs. George Hazelton, Cheever circle—Precinct 1; Mrs. Shirley Barnard, High street—Precinct 2; Mrs. James Baldwin, 19 William street—Precinct 3; Mrs. Reginald Holt, 74 Bartlett street—Precinct 6.

Precincts 4 and 5 are not represented on this committee because

Local Men Improving From Accident Injuries

A marked improvement in condition was reported this morning at the Lawrence General hospital of two local men confined there with serious injuries after a bad automobile accident on South Main street last Friday evening.

Donald Gillespie of 32 Elm street, previously reported as having a fractured skull, has apparently escaped that danger, though further X-rays are to be taken. Nelson Gloddy of South Main street, also believed to have suffered a badly fractured skull, is confined with a slight fracture.

The accident occurred at about 9:25 Friday evening when the automobile in which the men were riding crashed into a truck near Hidden road. The machine was operated by Louis G. Conkey of South Main street, who suffered a laceration of the forehead and abrasion of the knee. Allen B. Pierce of North Reading was operating the truck involved.

Removed to Lawrence General hospital with Conkey, Gillespie and Gloddy was Floyd MacDonald of Woburn street, who suffered lacerations of the mouth, cheek and tongue. A fifth passenger, Thomas J. Carney of South Main street, was unhurt.

Political Contests Gaining Interest

New Candidates File For Numerous Offices

Several new hats entered the ring this week as the time for filing nomination papers drew to a close. Only a week remains before the closing date, February 4 at 4:30, and considerable interest is being shown in the school committee elections. No contests have developed as yet in any of the other offices, though it is understood Selectman Edward P. Hall will compete with an as yet unannounced candidate for the three-year term of selectman and assessor.

The entrants in the school committee contests so far are William A. Doherty and Dr. Malcolm B. McTernan, standing for re-election, and Rev. John S. Moses, W. Winslow Dunnells and Gordon M. Thompson, all for the three vacancies for the regular three-year term; and Miss Barbara Loomer, Roy A. Russell, Frederick W. H. Stott and Jerome W. Cross, Jr., for the two-year terms caused by the resignations of Mrs. Julie Musk and Harold S. Houston, both reelected last year.

Point Registration May Start February 15

At last week's school committee meeting the probability that the schools will have to be closed for two weeks in February was considered, in view of the coming point rationing registration. In all probability, the schools will be closed for rationing during the week just before or just after the regular February vacation, in order to effect a considerable saving in fuel oil.

The outlying schools will be closed altogether for those two weeks, the Ballardvale registration probably taking place in the community room there, and the Grange and West church vestry being used in West Andover instead of the two schools there. The committee understands that those in charge of the three buildings will cooperate for the registration period.

In some towns, it is expected that more than one week will be required for the giant registration

Uniform air raid alarm signals were ordered today for all sixteen Atlantic seaboard states, effective February 17, by Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding the Eastern Defense Command.

Andover will be included in the order, and apparently the present air raid alarm signals must be changed to conform with Army regulations.

Basically, the new signals will be the same as those now in use, and the same methods of giving the alarm, whistles and sirens, and the extinguishing of street-lights, will notify the public that the blackout has begun.

Only two separate signals will be used. A long, steady blast, as opposed to a series of short blasts, on air raid sirens, horns or whistles, will be the "blue signal"; it will mean that enemy planes are probably coming in this direction. The blackout will begin immediately; houses should be blacked out, or their lights should be extinguished. Automobilists will switch their lights to low beam, and proceed with caution, meanwhile preparing to take shelter at the next signal.

A series of short blasts on the horns or whistles, or a rising and falling sound on the sirens, will be the "red signal"; it will mean that enemy planes are actually overhead. Houses will remain blacked out; automobiles will be stopped at the side of the road; motorists, passengers and pedestrians will take shelter.

Stuart Chase To Speak Here Next Friday Night

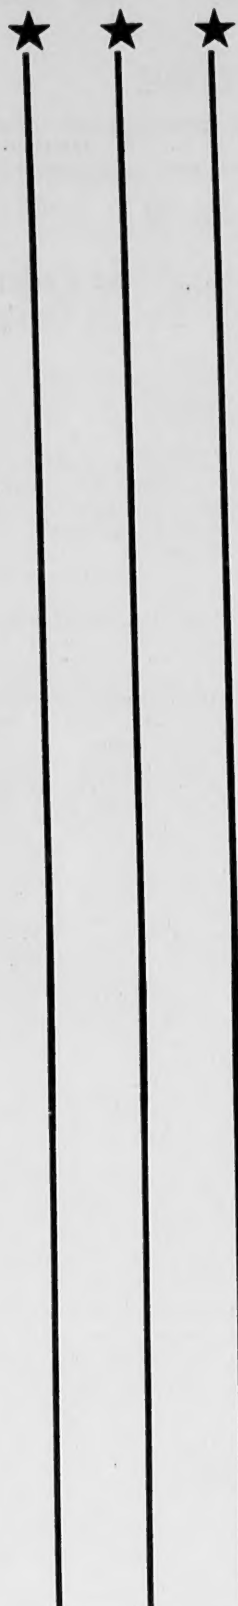

Stuart Chase, well-known economist, author, lecturer, and college instructor, will speak on the economics of war in George Washington Hall February 5 at 8:15, under the auspices of Phillips Academy. The public is invited to attend.

According to Mr. Chase, "full employment of America's manpower and material resources, now forced by the war, carried over into the peace would give this country the highest standard of living it has ever known."

Mr. Chase finds that old restrictions of money and finance on the full use of men and materials are being swept aside all over the globe. "No nation in this danger-

Servicemen's Fund Committee, Still Going Strong, Plans Monster Penny Social At Memorial Auditorium February 12

The Servicemen's Fund Committee is driving again.

After their successful penny social at the Memorial auditorium on December 19, the general committee has decided to hold another such party, scheduled for the evening of Lincoln's Birthday, at the same place.

Jim Mosher will again be chairman, and he will be assisted by Hal Wennik, John Erving, Charlie Foster and Miss Anna Greeley. Charles McCullom and his "baseball gang," who did such a swell job at the previous social, will again distribute the penny tickets. Mr. Mosher has already begun preparations for the monster penny social, and has been extremely fortunate in obtaining plenty of good groceries. Canned goods, flour, soap and such articles are included.

The committee is giving away $100 worth of various articles as door prizes, the first prize being a $25 war bond, followed by two 9x12 congoeum rugs, pyrex wear and Cannon towels.

Those who enjoyed the December penny social so much are really responsible for having another one conducted on the same scale. It should be an enjoyable and profitable evening for all. Play starts at 7:30 on February 12.

Wisconsin Ski Tourney Won By Kerr Sparks

You've got to be pretty handy with skis to be a civilian ski instructor, but you've got to be a lot better if you want to teach soldiers how to do their stem bogens and gelandesprungs. So it isn't at all surprising to find that an army ski instructor, Kerr Sparks of Andover, won an important tourney at the LaCrosse (Wisc.) Ski club last week.

Sparks took part with a number of entrants from the 87th mountain regiment of the Army, with which he serves as an instructor. The LaCrosse Tribune and Leader-Press ran a big picture of him in his ski togs in its Monday edition.

According to the Wisconsin paper, "Corp. Kerr Sparks edged out the LaCrosse club's ace, Dean

Peterson, to take first place in the combined downhill and slalom events.

"Corp. Sparks, a former civilian ski instructor now occupying the same position in the army, and the holder of the downhill record on the Ski Maister trail in Vermont, had a combined time of 124.4 seconds. He took second in the slalom event, running the course twice in a total of 89.8 seconds, and had a 7th in the downhill with a time of 34.6 seconds."

Before entering service, Sparks was an instructor at the famous Hannes Schneider school at Cranmore Mountain, N. H. He's a graduate of Pynchard high school, class of '36.

PUTNAM AT TEXAS FIELD

Lately arrived at Corsicana Field, Texas, is Aviation Cadet George O. Putnam, who was transferred to the Air Force Training Detachment from Kelly Field for primary flight instruction.

George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Putnam of 71 Lowell street, West Andover.

AT EASE!

Cpl. Burton Batcheller, with a mountain infantry regiment at colorful Camp Hale, Colo., is visiting his parents, the Fred B. Batchellers of Lowell street. We also saw P. F. C. Foster Zink around town this week. Foster's with that same mountaineering regiment at Camp Hale.

Cpl. Ray Lynch writes the Fund committee that he has landed in Africa, is in perfect health, and hopes to be back soon. Lieut. Bill Cargill reports that he's "still on the move."

Bradford Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Holt of South Main street, is taking up naval aviation at Kilgore College in Texas.

The Fund committee has heard from Pvt. Arthur F. Manock, at the recruit depot at Parris Island, S. C.; Cpl. J. Reilly, at Baltimore's famous Holabird base; and Seaman J. J. Morrissey at Newport, R. I.

Eddie McCabe was recently transferred to Burbank, Calif.,

where he's studying at an Air Force service school, from his station in Texas.

Congrats to P.F.C. Homer Garceau of Fort Jackson, S. C., whose engagement to Miss Bernadette Croteau of State street, Lawrence, was recently announced. He was home on furlough a few weeks ago.

Sgt. Norman Peatman of West Parish is a Link trainer instructor at the Army Air Base at Colorado Springs, Colo., and likes it a lot. Norman hasn't run into any Andover boys out there, though we understand that Sgt. Donald King is also at the Springs.

Eddie Valentine, an aviation machinist's mate in the navy, is at the air station at Norfolk, Va.

Aviation Cadet Albert Lynch is now at Garner Field—named for the former vice-president—at Uvalde, Texas.

Pvt. Tom Eldred is enjoying the sunshine at Salt Lake City, but expects to be transferred almost anytime. He's with the Air Force.

Andover has at least seven paratroopers, not six, as we stated last week. The seventh is Pvt. James Edgar, recently transferred to Fort Benning, Ga., after a stay at Camp Lee, Va.

Lieut. Scott V. Walker, a pilot in the AAF, who recently was commissioned, had a short furlough at home with his parents, the Vernon W. Walkers of South Main street, a short time ago.

Fireman Donald Wrigley of the Navy came into port recently for a weekend with his parents, the Harry Wrigleys of Marland street, Ballardvale. His brother Harry, who also holds the grade of fireman, second-class, was home for a brief reunion with his parents and brother at the same time.

Jim O'Donnell has arrived safely in Africa, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Donnell of the Vale.

Walter MacTammany, Jr., of the Naval Air Force, is "somewhere in the Pacific area."

Jim Taylor of the Marines, son of the William G. Taylors of Haverhill street, has been promoted to P.F.C. at the Cherry Point (S. C.) air station.

A recent enlistee in the AAF, Warren Lewis, son of the Arthur Lewis of Lowell street, is now stationed at Miami Beach for preliminary training. He will start the study of meteorology around February 1.

Russ Blunt, who used to do the backstopping for Tyer's baseball team, and previously starred in athletics for Pynchard, entered the army this week at St. Augustine, Florida, where he was head coach and faculty member at Florida Normal college. He had also been coach at Southern University in Louisiana for four years. He was visiting here a couple of weeks ago.

Here's two recent promotions in the same family, that of Mrs. Gladys Shattuck of Center street, Ballardvale. Her son Delwin is now a two-striper, Fred a sergeant, in the army.

Don Lundgren, who used to have that nice collection of phonograph records here, has made the jump from private to sergeant in the quartermaster corps at Camp Lee, Va. He finished his studies last week, and got the new stripes Saturday. Don had the highest marks in his class.

Lieut. Warren Richardson, recently commissioned, is now serving as an infantry platoon leader at Fort Lewis, Washington.

Richard Quinn, son of the Peter Quinns of Ballardvale, has enlisted in the Navy.

Melvin Grover, son of Mrs. Margaret Grover of Main street, was sworn in Saturday as an ensign in the Naval Reserve. Mel is to take his indoctrination training at Cornell University, then go on active service at Norfolk, Va.

Land Crabs And Heat The Chief Complaints of National Guardsmen In The South Pacific; Japs Just Don't Count

Civilians who have to worry about little meat shortages and our decidedly damp weather might listen for a few moments to the tale of Sgt. Fred MacCord of North Main street, who is with one of the Lawrence National Guard units in the South Pacific, and has been overseas for more than a year now.

Says Fred, in a letter to the Fund committee: "How would you like a few land crabs to sleep with? We have them every night nipping at our ears—so you can see we're not 'sleeping on the job.'" In fact, when the war is over, the men in his outfit will be able to "sleep on a picket fence," according to Fred.

Fred doesn't go into details as to where he is, except that it's "a very hot place. I don't know how the natives here have stood it so long—there must be a trick to it. They are very friendly, by the way, and some of them speak English almost as well as we do."

Despite the heat and the land crabs which nip him in the night, Fred's convinced that "the army is a great place to be. Don't let anyone kid you; we have our kicks and squawks, but that's all part of the game, and boy, do we play it up! You people in Andover have done a beautiful job, too."

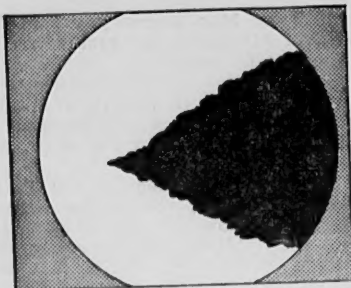

"Well," he concludes, "On the 22nd (of January) I will have been overseas a full year, and boy, that's a long time. I sure do miss home and the old town of Andover, but by the beard of the Prophet, we will all come sailing back one of these fine days—I hope it's soon. Good luck to all."

Our only conclusion is that we might be able to use a little less butter and fuel oil, for a while longer, without any untoward sacrifice.

Windows On New Worlds

Hair-splitting is no longer a joke with the new electron microscope, which makes visible a whole world that has previously been too small for scientists to study.

1. Using particles of electricity instead of light, the instrument makes a mosquito's stinger 1/1000 the diameter of a hair, look like this.

2. Crystals, dust particles, disease-producing viruses can be enlarged to a million times to examine their nature and structure.

3. Portable, operating from ordinary power lines, it is expected to speed war research in laboratories of colleges and war plants.

4. After the war, it may be useful in many fields—for example, in searching for the cause of such diseases as the common cold.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE NOTES

Containing material of interest and value to Andover's hundreds of Civilian Defense workers and to the general public as well.

The second part of a bulletin from the Health division of the State Committee on Public Safety, whose publication began here last week, deals with 17 methods of conserving the fuel and heat in the home. The committee's suggestions are:

1. If you have an oil burner, convert to coal if at all possible.
  2. Have your heater inspected by a competent mechanic who is familiar with the type of fuel burner that you use. The smoke pipe, chimney and furnace interior should be clean, radiator valves made to function effectively, air and steam valves tested to see that the heating medium circulates properly.
  3. If you have a thermostat, have it checked by a competent authority.
  4. Provide a thermometer in one or more rooms, located at shoulder height.
  5. Shut off all unused rooms, or rooms seldom used. Be sure to shut off the heat, close windows tightly, draw shades and shut doors.
  6. Shut off heat in bedrooms during the night, or when airing the rooms, and keep the doors closed.
  7. When airing the house, be sure that the thermostat settings are reduced, and do not reset the thermostat to normal until at least 15 minutes after the airing.
  8. Where the burner supplies hot water, be sure that the temperatures are set at the lowest practical temperatures, normally 130 to 140 degrees.
  9. Reduce the thermostat setting during the night by 5 degrees. Further lowering will not conserve oil.
  10. Set the thermostat at least 5 degrees lower than in past seasons; a 65 degree temperature is reasonable and conserves fuel.
  11. Heat loss in homes is greatest through glass exposure; lower window shades, draw draperies or close venetian blinds at night or other convenient times.
  12. Substantial fuel savings can be effected by installing storm windows and storm doors, by weatherstripping windows, or by using insulation.
  13. Insulate boilers, storage tanks, steam and hot water lines in the basement to reduce radiation losses.
  14. Depending on house construction and the arrangement of rooms, the use of an open fireplace to augment the heating plant may effect appreciable fuel savings. When the fireplace is used, the room should be closed off or the thermostat lowered, since the fireplace will pull air from other parts of the building and reduce room temperatures. The damper should be kept tightly closed when the fireplace is not in use.
  15. Any ventilators or other openings in attics and basements should be tightly closed.
  16. Take advantage of the heat of the sun on sunny days.
  17. Never reduce house temperatures below 50 degrees, since it may result in freezing pipes within outside walls, or between floors.
- Next week, this column will discuss 16 methods of conserving the heat of the body so that less heat than usual may be used safely in the home.

RED CROSS NEWS

NUTRITION LECTURE—Tomorrow afternoon, a nutrition lecture will be given by Miss Katherine Lawlor of Essex Aggies, in the American Legion rooms, under the sponsorship of the local Red Cross chapter. Miss Lawlor will announce at this meeting the time of a demonstration to be given by her next week, at which she will prepare several of the dishes discussed by her in her series of three talks.

SEWING—From December, 1931, to August, 1942, the local Red Cross chapter made 21,608 articles of clothing of all types, a large portion for relief in occupied countries. During the November, 1942, to July, 1943 period, 2,000 articles must be made to fill the Red Cross present quota—this does not include knitted garments of any kind.

Of the 2,000, 350 articles have already been sent—they include children's rompers, girls' blouses, operating gowns, pajamas, skirts, boys' overalls, underwear of all types, boys' and men's shirts.

The most recent quota of 40 comfort kits has been filled with 32 to spare. The kits are given to soldiers and Marines embarking for foreign duty.

There is a new knitting quota of 300 articles, including army sleeveless and turtle-neck sweaters, mufflers, Navy gloves and shoulderettes. This quota must be filled by April.

Those in charge of Red Cross sewing remind local women that the sewing need not be done in the Red Cross rooms, but that those who wish to do so may take their articles home to work on them there. Those who wish to sew at the Musgrove Building rooms may do so on Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Thursdays.

Library Opening New Victory Book Campaign

Miss Miriam Putnam, librarian at the Memorial hall library has announced the opening of the 1944 Victory Book campaign, whose purpose is to provide suitable reading matter for the men in the armed forces. Books may be left at the Memorial Hall library.

Those planning to give are urged to pick out good books, not merely discarded trash—any sort of literature that will interest a serviceman. Current best sellers and recently-published popular fiction and non-fiction, adventure and Western stories, and detective mystery novels, as well as technical books published since 1935, popular-priced editions of the classics and the like, are especially in demand. Those who have no books to give are asked to buy them and turn them over as servicemen's gifts.

Shawsheen Women's Club Plan Evening Of Music

The Shawsheen Village Women's Club will hold its annual music night Monday evening at 8:00 in the Shawsheen school hall. Mrs. Charles Lynde and Mrs. Harry J. Barker are co-chairmen.

The program will consist of selections by Edward Gamade, tenor, a well-known radio star, who will be accompanied by Rae Nichols at the piano. Mr. Gamade sang before the club last year, and his program was greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

Synthetic Rubber Topic Of Service Club Speaker

Robert F. Lybeck of Boston, an engineer who has been closely associated with the technical development of synthetic rubber for the past several years, will discuss this vital material at a Service club meeting tonight at 8:15 at the Andover Inn.

Mr. Lybeck is a graduate of Tufts College with the degrees of bachelor and master of science. He has been a chemical engineer for 23 years, and many Rotary clubs and similar organizations have heard his talk.

Because of the development of synthetic rubber, he believes that the United States will never again rely on natural rubber, and that in the years to come, the synthetic rubber industry will rank in size with the automotive and the entire chemical industries. "Normally," he adds, "such a development would take a generation."

None the less, he thinks that "the maximum 1943 output will only be sufficient to take care of our primary military needs and such civilian needs as are absolutely necessary." In 1944, however, the development will have reached a stage where "it will be possible to relax the present restrictions on civilian driving."

the work of the committee parallels almost exactly the work being done by the Rural War Action committee organized by Miss Katherine Lawler of the Essex County Agricultural school in Hathorne. This committee will cover not only these two precincts but also a large part of Precinct 6.

The precincts will be divided among zone chairmen, of whom the following have already been appointed:

Precinct I—Mrs. William Fleming, 15 Pasho street; Mrs. Elven Gilfoy, 29 Summer street; Mrs. Sherwood Kelley, Coolidge road; Mrs. Edward C. Nichols, 31 Wolcott avenue; Miss Avis Sander-son, 66 Main street.

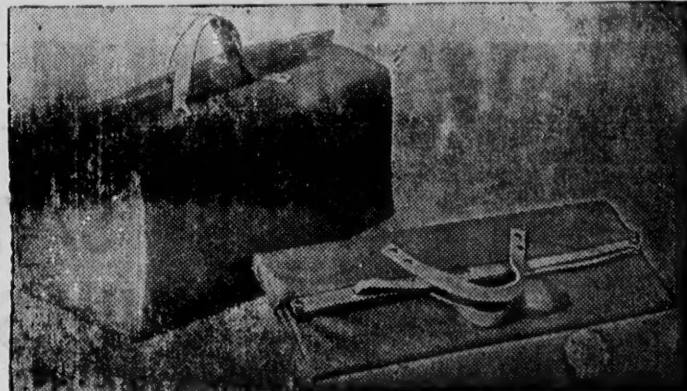

Precinct II—Mrs. Frederick Butler, 111 Main street; Mrs. Arthur Cole, 16 High street; Mrs. Milton Day, 75 Central street.

Precinct III—Mrs. Alan F. Dunlop, 20 Arundel street; Mrs. Joseph T. Gagne, 5 Kensington street; Mrs. Charles B. Hodges, Jr., 306 North Main street; Mrs. Frank J. Kefferstan, 115 Haverhill street; Mrs. Robert E. Marland, 8 George street; Mrs. Harold R. Rutter, 18 Canterbury street.

Each zone chairman will appoint neighborhood leaders who will contact each householder. In Precincts 4 and 5 and in the rural sections of Precinct 6, the "Minute-women" of the Rural War Action committee will take the place of the neighborhood leaders.

Many have wondered about the point rationing books which none of us have yet seen. The neighborhood leader will call on them and explain the way in which the new books are to be used. There will be other things which she will try to help housewives with as time goes on. She will have suggestions on what crops to grow in a victory garden, or suggestions from the Government as to how to prepare appetizing and nutritious meals without meat. She will be there to assist in any way she can.

Punchard Notes

Ruth Gregory

Several boys in Punchard have taken advantage of an opportunity offered them by Phillips Academy, to join a class in rifle shooting given by Monteville Peck, an instructor at the academy. It is to be given at the Academy baseball cage Friday evenings at 8:00, and will last six weeks. Among the things included in the course are information on nomenclature, triangulation, use of the sighting bar, coaching, and the use of the gun sling. The four firing positions, prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing are used.

The type of gun used is the Winchester Model 75, 22 caliber rifle. At the end of the course the boys will be given certificates. The course is the same as is given in a corresponding army training course.

The boys who have signed up for this class are Jack Barberian, Roger Collins, Arthur Hall, Gilbert Hamlin, George Irwin, Charles Davidson, Richard Lynch, Robert Mears, Edward Morrissey, Vincent Mitchell, William Richards, Gordon Robb, Arnold Schofield, Victor Shorten, Francis Sheehan, Sam Spinella, David Stafford, Robert Simon, Alvin Towne, Harvey Tucker and John Tacy.

Last Wednesday Punchard's basketball team was defeated by the Phillips Academy J. V's in two games. The Phillips Seconds beat the Punchard Seconds, 23 to 7, and the J. V's beat the Punchard varsity, 25 to 17.

Methuen defeated Punchard 35 to 19 in the major game, and 18 to 15 in the second game, Friday.

Margarite Golden has returned to school after a recent operation for appendicitis.

The Junior class had their dance Friday night. A special feature was Stevens and Mr. McDonald of a quiz program conducted by Mr. the faculty. Mr. Stevens asked the questions, and lollipops were given as prizes. Mr. McDonald gave out consequences, which the contestant was supposed to perform in the middle of the dance floor, for incorrect answers. Among the consequences were imitations of well known people and recitation of nursery rhymes. The dancing was done to Russell MacLeish's recordings.

Mr. Manning returned to school Monday after a short illness.

TPA Directors Attend State Meeting In Boston

President Wallace E. Brimer of the Taxpayers Association, with several of the organization's directors, attended a conference of the State Federation of Taxpayers Associations this week. The all-day session was held Tuesday at the Boston City club.

The speakers at the meeting were Norman MacDonald, executive secretary, and other state officers. Attending from Andover were Mr. Brimer, Henry S. Hopper, Herbert Farnsworth and J. Augustus Remington.

Robert Deyermund, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Deyermund of 91 Elm street, has returned to school after being confined to bed for several weeks with a concussion sustained in a fall on ice.

Markey-Terp

Miss Marjorie Terp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Terp of Topeka, Kansas, was united in marriage with George Peter Markey, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Markey of High street, at a ceremony in Topeka on December 16.

The bride, whose father is superintendent of public schools in Topeka, is a graduate of Washburn College, and is now teaching in the English department of Topeka high school.

Mr. Markey is also a graduate of Washburn College, and is now serving in the 365th Marines, temporarily stationed in Topeka.

True-Corliss

A pretty wedding ceremony took place at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon in the West church, when Miss Helen Gertrude Corliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Corliss of High Plain road, was united in marriage with Walter E. True, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl True of Billerica. The double ring ceremony was performed in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, by Rev. Donald H. Savage, pastor.

The bride, gowned in white taffeta, was given in marriage by her father. She carried white sweet peas and roses. Her sister, Mrs. Hartwell Abbott, was her matron of honor, wearing ashes of roses taffeta. She had a bouquet of yellow marguerites and sweet peas.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. John Peatman of Tewksbury and the groom's sister, Miss Jean True. They wore gowns of royal blue taffeta and carried pink sweet peas.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church vestry.

George Soutar of Billerica and Hartwell Abbott of Andover acted as ushers, and the best man was Thomas Knight, a close friend of the groom.

Mrs. True is a graduate of Punchard high school and the Essex Agricultural school, and for several years has been hostess at Fieldstones. Mr. True is a graduate of Billerica high school and studied at Mass Institute of Technology. He is employed as a draftsman by the Boston and Maine railroad.

After a short wedding trip to New York, the couple will reside in Lowell.

Officer Deyermund First To Sign Up For War Bonds

Patrolman John Deyermund, the father of five boys in all the branches of the U. S. armed forces, is heading the list again.

The local War Bond committee, through its chairman, James Gould, believing that the payroll deduction plan is the most satisfactory method for the purchase of bonds by individuals, sent a letter, through Thaxton Eaton, town treasurer, to all town employees.

The letter urged the employees to adopt the systematic savings method provided by the payroll deduction plan in preference to the more haphazard ways in vogue.

And who was the first to step up and sign the authorization for deducting from his salary? None other than Jack Deyermund.

The goal of the committee is 90 percent enlistment in the plan by the town employees; when that goal is reached, a special Minute-man flag will be presented to the town, and will be flown in front of the town house.

As the War Bond committee points out, there could hardly be a better background for the service plaque in front of that building.

Gasoline

Some people were disappointed Tuesday night, primarily at the lack of specific information as to what the United Nations are going to do in order to get themselves in a position where they can demand unconditional surrender. But it's like a football game—our team's been in a huddle, and before long the play will be made. Then we—and the enemy—will know what the play is, not until then.

The important point for us to remember is that we've got the ball. We're on the offensive, and we're going to stay on it, until after banging and banging away at the line, we arrive in the end zone. Then Adolf will know what Winston and Franklin concocted at Casablanca.

There's one trouble with comparing all this to a football game. Our leaders are calling the plays, and our team, the armed forces, will execute them. So far the comparison is valid, but beyond that there arises a question. We here at home seem to be acting as if we were only grandstand onlookers, but in reality we're very, very much in this game. If we merely act as sports spectators, we're going to make the war last longer, and we're going to give the enemy a much better chance to slay our boys.

What can you do? You can't wear a uniform? Well, wearing uniforms doesn't necessarily win wars. You can help produce the things the fellows in uniform will need. You can refrain from absenteeism.

Incidentally, what do you people who aren't engaged in war work think about "absenteeism," this practice of workers who are now making more money than they ever did before, and who show their appreciation by taking a few days off from their job of making bullets, building ships, etc. It makes you mad, doesn't it, because by their lack of patriotism, they are keeping things from the boys that they sorely need.

And how about you? You're not in war work, but you're doing it, too, aren't you? You're wasting your gas on needless errands, when it can much better be used in planes and jeeps. The OPA says you can go to church in your car, and so you go to church in it, even if you could just as well walk, or take a bus. You don't have to use all your ration, you know. If you're a real American, you'll do everything you can to see that there are stamps left in your book when the next rationing period ends.

Use your gasoline only if it is absolutely necessary, and don't try too hard to convince yourself that any given circumstance is necessary. Be American.

And Gas

Decontamination. $500.

The United States has come to a point in its history where it can think less of defense and more of offense. Some defense will be necessary, just in case an ever-dwindling possibility of a contingency arrives, but now we can become much more skimpy in our appropriations for defense, in order that the money we save may go into offense.

The tentative civilian defense budget for Andover this year is around $6500. Some of its items will be considered necessary, but some of them will be questioned seriously by those who want nothing to happen to our homes but who at the same time feel that now especially only minimum precautions need be taken.

Included in that budget is about $500 as we remember it for decontamination, more for helmets for auxiliary firemen and policemen, some for sand bags, etc. Those who are active in civilian defense are very much interested in it, and well they might be, for it certainly has its place in our life today. But their interest should not be allowed to grow so keen that they forget that this money can better be used now for offense.

Take decontamination, again, just for example. Why spend $500 on that? In case of gas attack? There are those who fear that some day in a last measure of desperation Hitler will unleash a gas attack. Maybe he will. That man would do anything.

But he's not going to start on Andover. He's going to start on places lots nearer to his ever-dwindling European sphere, and if he decides on giving the United States a dose of it, he's not going to give these orders: "Forget New York City, and Washington, and Baltimore, and Philadelphia, and Boston; they're not important. But give that place, Andover, a double dose." We'll have plenty of warning, if he does.

Sometimes these civic activities become hobbies; let's not indulge in unnecessary hobbies at the public's expense.

Casablanca Conference

Just about three weeks ago, the Townsman received a laconic note from the office of Chief Censor Price in Washington, saying that "the President is making another trip," and asking us to co-operate by not mentioning in the paper anything that might cause that information to become public.

The same note went to every newspaper in the country, large and small, the big dailies and the small weeklies. They all knew that the biggest story of the year was at their fingertips—and they studiously ignored it for the national security.

The Townsman isn't trying to say that it had "inside information," or anything of the sort, on Mr. Roosevelt's electrifying conference in North Africa.

It does point out that perhaps the finest instance of democracy to come out of this war is that, in wartime, in a matter of global importance, involving the President of the United States, the Prime Minister of Great Britain, the Chief of Staff of the United States Army, the Commander-in-Chief of the United States Navy, and the respective chiefs of the British Army and Navy, the government saw fit to take into its confidence the weekly newspaper of a little town of 11,000 people. That's freedom of the press in actual operation; that's the real democracy that we enjoy now, and that the whole world will enjoy in years to come.

COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor:

Andover's growth in past years is often the subject of friendly debate. The question is, "Was the Andover of the horse and buggy age better off than the Andover of the motor age?"

In the horse and buggy age, every man was a part of a great crusade for self-improvement, which meant lots of hard work, plenty of food, plenty of fuel and plenty of happiness.

There was no particular bitterness concerning the political situation. People were too busy with their own development to subscribe to such a waste of time and endeavor. It is true that wages were not high, but neither were the products of the butcher, baker or coal dealers.

Coal was $5 a ton. Rents were reasonable—and oh, those steaks at 25 cents a pound!

Yes, and remember the old town hall, with its holiday spirit on election day. The only voting booth in town was in town hall, later half-filled with citizens or guests for the town meeting. Those are tranquil, pleasant remembrances.

Yet Andover, winter or summer, was always bright, clean and cheerful. Yes, we have made progress, but at what price? We have made progress in town government, but at what price? We have made progress in our mode of living, but at what price? We are making town history, but at what price?

Yes, with all these modernisms, where can be found that great benefit of mankind, happiness?

R. V. DEYERMOND

(Ed. Note—It's an interesting question. We look on this war, and all the troubles that went before it, as all part of the great endeavor Mr. Deyermund ascribes to an earlier era. We think this country has been on a single crusade, with a few irrelevant bypaths, since the days of the American Revolution.

While it is, of course, true that life was good in the old days, we think that the town never had the elan, the spirit that it has today.

It has certainly never had such a large percentage of its people devoting a main part of their energies to community service. Take the rationing and draft boards, giving hours and hours each week to their unpaid and thankless tasks. Or the staff of the report center and the observation post, giving up regular portions of their leisure to dull and unpublicized duties. The whole civilian defense corps, for that matter, the State Guardsmen, the Fund committee, the Red Cross—why, there's hardly anyone in Andover who isn't serving without compensation somewhere in the war effort.

If, as they say, busy people are happy people, Andover is certainly happier than it has even been. At least, it has a right to be.)

This Sober Town

All sorts of high-jinks were enjoyed up at George Washington Hall last Friday night, when some Phillips Academy Latin students presented "Andria," a Latin play by a Latin poet named Terence (no last name available)—in the original Latin at that. The word "Andria" itself, we understand, means "When the dickens are they going to begin butter rationing?"

Horace M. Poynter told a few anecdotes before the performance, followed by a brief introductory summary by Dr. R. I. W. Westgate. Then up stepped brave Frank Mahoney of Lowell, a P. A. student, like Horatius at the bridge table. Said Frank, in what the stage di-

The rest of the prologue was quite as neat, if not as reverent to our sister community. The style was something of a cross between Lang, Leaf and Myers and the late lamented Sir William Gilbert.

It was sprinkled throughout with rhymed Latin quotations, like "O, quam est amor," which means, in a free translation, "I can't tell one of those Flynns from the other," and "Ego sum in extremis," which in English is "We're chopping up the kitchen chairs for firewood."

But it was a lot of fun, and those boys certainly can sling the Latin around.

Signs of the times: we saw half-a-dozen husky lads uptown yester-

Our first thought was, "Migosh, an-

of Mrs. Henry Kazaz. Mrs. C. Edward Buchan was leader.

Two meetings are to be held tomorrow at 3:00, the first at the home of Mrs. R. I. W. Westgate, 25 Highland road, at which Mrs.
Alan Blackmer will lead the discussion, the second at the home of Mrs. C. Carleton Kimball of 50 School street, which will be led by Mrs. Hart D. Leavitt.

Further discussion meetings on the same subject will be held next week in other parts of town.

Blackout

All the foregoing is practically the same as the system now in effect in Andover. An important change, however, is that after the "red" signal, meaning that enemy planes are overhead, the "blue" signal will be sounded again. It will mean what it meant before—that enemy planes are not actually overhead, but still in a position to threaten the town. Homes will remain blacked out, but motorists may proceed under the same conditions as under the previous blue signal.

There is no guarantee that the blue warning signal will precede the red—there may not be time enough. But the second blue signal, the one following the actual danger warning, will always be sounded at the proper time.

Under no circumstances, and under heavy penalty by Army officials, may any person leave his home or place of business, at any time, without extinguishing or blacking out all lights visible from the outside.

If local officials decide to keep using the present all clear signal, it must be changed so that it cannot be confused with the red or blue signals, sounded as authorized above. An audible all clear signal may be used, or the switching on of street-lights or radio announcement may be employed to notify the public that the danger is past.

An air raid warden, or any other member of the civilian defense organization, will go to his post in the manner he has always done when the blue signal is sounded. No provision is made in the Army regulations for the town's present "V for Victory" mobilization signal.

At the sounding of the red signal, the civilian defense worker will begin his assigned duties as in previous blackouts. He will remain on the alert during the period after the second blue signal.

No audible all-clear signal has been specified, because most noise-making equipment can make only two clearly distinguishable sounds, continued notes and intermittent or "wailing" notes.

The purpose of the regulations is to provide for uniform air raid signals through the whole threatened area in order to permit earlier blackout and mobilization of CD personnel, greater protection, and a minimum of time loss and interference with essential war production.

How Necessary Is YOUR Charge Account During Wartime?

We should like to know how necessary charge accounts are to our customers during wartime or if this service is one of the nonessentials which our government would like us to eliminate.

We ask this because by March 1st we are going to be faced with the problem of setting up an entire new bookkeeping system—called Ration Accounts, Ration Deposits, and Ration Checking. So much is entailed in the handling of the new ration stamps that we do not see how we are going to handle the complicated system that it presents and do our usual bookkeeping as well.

We have debated this question; in fact we wrote an ad, saying that as of March 1st we were going to discontinue our charge account system. But we thought it over and we decided to leave the question up to our customers and let them tell us what they would like us to do.

When we come right down to it, why do we need charge accounts? Each month we expend a certain amount of money, but always for goods purchased in the past. Might we not spend it for the present these days and save a duplication of work? Further, under rationing it will be necessary for the customer to come to the store to make most of her purchases because it will not be possible for the deliveryman to collect the many stamps which will be required for individual purchases.

If, after considering this matter, you find you cannot get along without your charge account, please don't hesitate to tell us. We shall be glad to continue it without interruption. But, if you find you can, and paying cash will work no hardship for you, we shall appreciate handling your purchases on a cash basis.

This request for a change is due not for credit reasons, because since we have been in business in Andover we have been very fortunate in enjoying, on the whole, a promptly paying trade. This request is for time-saving reasons only as it is not going to be practical for us to double our office personnel.

Junior High Notes

Claudia Nicoll

An assembly was called last week as a rally celebrating the purchase of an army jeep by the pupils. The program began with the presentation of prizes for the best essay on the scrap drive, war bonds and stamp purchases, and other activities.

The prizes went to Edwin Bramley and Emily Girasch, seventh grade; Carol Davies and Elizabeth Haakonson, eighth grade; Alice Chick and Mary Lynch, ninth grade, with a special award to Anne Arakalian.

Alice Chick gave a pep talk and Grant MacMackin, school treasurer, presented Capt. Frank P. Lum of Camp Andover with a miniature jeep. Captain Lum gave an inspiring talk, and suggested that he might send a machine gun squad down to entertain the school.

Richard Clough played two difficult clarinet selections at this week's music appreciation period.

It has been announced that $133.38 was collected from the recent Junior high dance.

Miss Dorothy Nicoll of the State department of health addressed the school Tuesday on proper nutrition from various foods, illustrating her talk with posters and exhibits. Miss Florence Gates arranged the program.

A debating club has been formed under Miss Mabel Marshall's supervision, to teach the fundamentals of public speaking to the pupils.

Two Junior high girls, Marion White and Betty Haakonsen, are learning to make surgical dressings for the Red Cross. Barbara Hudon heads the workers on the Victory Book campaign.

CPL. CROCKETT WOUNDED

Corporal Technician Douglas A. Crockett, well-known Shawshen resident, has been seriously wounded in an enemy engagement, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crockett of 117 Lowell street. He was assigned to a unit of army engineers as a rigger, with which occupation he is familiar because of previous association with his father in a trucking business. He has been in the Pacific area since May.

Cpl. Crockett is a Punched graduate, class of 1936. He was prominent in skeet shooting here a few years ago.

ARREST CUBA STREET MAN

Charles Wilkesman of 21 Cuba street was taken into custody by local police early Friday morning, charged with alleged larceny of a bag of coal from the yards of the Andover Coal company on Railroad avenue. A guard at the Tyer Rubber company alleged that he had seen Wilkesman in the act of taking the coal, whereupon he notified the police.

Wilkesman was also charged with the neglect of three minor children, the oldest four years old.

He was to appear at Lawrence District court this morning on the two charges, but no disposition of the case was made by press time today. Another arrest in the case is, however, expected.

MALE CHOIR MOVES

The Andover Male Choir moved this week from its former quarters in the Musgrove building. Hereafter it will make its headquarters in the music room in the Junior high school, whose use was granted it recently by the school committee.

Though the choir has lost 15 members to the armed services, it plans to continue its work with the help of the Choral society, on a reduced scale, for the duration of the war.

Abbot Academy Notes

Albert Edward Bailey of Worcester will speak in Abbot Hall Sunday night on "What's Who in the Universe," Religion for Mr. Bailey is "man's search for friendship," and his treatment of this subject is non-controversial, non-denominational, and theologically liberal, but none the less sincere and earnest. His talk on Sunday evening will be an inspirational presentation of the modern view of God; man's earlier views as embodied in works of art; the shattering of anthropomorphic gods by modern science; the cosmic God revealed through the telescope, spectroscopy and microscope; the personality of God revealed in evolution, instinct and the spiritual elan vital in man.

Ex-Mayor Fred D. McGregor of Haverhill has said of this talk, "one of the most enjoyable, as well as the most instructive, to which I have ever listened. It certainly gives one a clearer vision of the immensity of the universe and the power and glory of the Creator."

Astronomical, nature and art slides will illustrate Mr. Bailey's presentation. He was formerly professor of the interpretation of religious art, Boston University School of Religious Education and Social Service, and head of the fine arts department and dean of the evening and extension division of Butler University, Indianapolis. He is the author of a number of books dealing with the subject of religion, including "The Gospel in Art", "Christ in Recent Art", "Use of Art in Religious Education" and "A History of the Hebrew Commonwealth."

His wife, who was Marian Hall, is a relative of Miss Julia Twitchell of Andover, and attended Abbot Academy in 1895.

Mr. Bailey's lecture will begin at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening, and friends of the school are cordially invited to attend.

On Saturday night, February 6, Irina Skariatina, former member of the Russian nobility and author of "A World Can End" and other best-sellers about Russia, will speak on the subject "Russia Yesterday and Today."

Latin Play Presented By Phillips Students

Although adapting its curriculum in many ways to furtherance of the war effort, Phillips Academy still adheres to its ancient traditions. This year, as usual, a Latin play has been presented entirely in the original Latin. The comedy, Terence's Andria, the plot for which Thornton Wilder used for The Woman of Andros, best seller of a few years ago, was presented in George Washington Hall on last Friday evening. Costumes and scenery were as nearly like those used by the ancient Romans as possible.

The cast included two Andover boys, Dwight Killam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace N. Killam of Porter road, who took the part of Charinus, a young man about Rome. Floyd T. Humphries, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd T. Humphries of 147 Main street, had the part of an old gentleman.

program, and that condition may arise here. There is also the possibility that the registration may be postponed or delayed. In that case, the school vacation period will be so shifted that the schools will be closed for two successive weeks.

Superintendent of Schools Edward I. Erickson met with all Essex county superintendents in Salem recently for consideration of the matter. Information given the group then was that the rationing period will begin February 15. If so, the rationing will take place that week, with the schools closed, and the regular vacation will begin on the 22nd.

The exact dates and places of the registration will be announced by the school department when these details have been arranged.

Rev. Mr. Noss To Speak Before A.P.C. Sorority

"Mari Sandoz and her Writings" is the subject of a talk to be delivered by Rev. Frederick B. Noss at a meeting of the Alpha Phi Chi sorority of the South church next Thursday evening in the church vestry.

Miss Marion Hill, president, will conduct a short business session preceding the talk. A social hour will follow with Mrs. Roy E. Hardy in charge. She will be assisted by Miss Helen McGraw, Mrs. John Halford, Jr., and Mrs. J. Kendall Longe.

Judith Napier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Napier of Elm street, has returned to school after an absence of several weeks, due to illness.

Mrs. David Gordon of Washington avenue is resting comfortably after a bad fall on ice which resulted in her breaking her ankle.

BALLARDVALE

Addresses Friendly Guild

Miss Myra Church addressed the Friendly Guild Friday evening on her work with the Lawrence City Mission. An interesting question period followed.

Mrs. Howard Paulson led the devotional exercises preceding the address. It was voted to have the Guild sponsor the annual church supper in April.

Miss Doris Shaw, Mrs. Ralph Sharpe and Mrs. Gordon Hall were in charge of refreshments.

Calendar For February

Feb. 1—Boy Scouts. Feb. 3—P. T. A. whist party. Feb. 5—Friendly Guild. Feb. 8—Community association meeting and penny social. Feb. 11—P. T. A. Founder's Day program. Feb. 15—Boy Scouts. Feb. 19—Friendly Guild Washington's Birthday party.

Scout Meetings Being Held

Regular meetings of Troop 76 are now being held on the first and third Mondays monthly. Patrol meetings are at different specified dates.

Community Association Social

The community association will hold a penny social in its rooms February 8. Admission is free, but donations are being solicited.

An executive meeting was held Monday at the home of the William Rileys. Reports on the membership drive were also given.

P. T. A. Whist Party

The P. T. A. will sponsor a whist party February 3, to which the public is invited. The next meeting of the P. T. A. will include a Founders Day program with Mrs. Jasper Gibson of Haverhill as speaker.

Women's Society Meets

Mrs. Anthony Luminello was hostess to the Women's Society for Christian Service at her home yesterday afternoon.

Red Cross Class

A Red Cross class in bandage making will be held hereafter Friday afternoons from 2 to 4, in the Union Congregational church vestry. All ladies of Ballardvale may attend; they should wear cotton dresses or smocks, and kerchiefs. Further details may be had from Mrs. Walter Curtis.

Charles Coolidge, severely burned in an explosion two weeks ago, and since confined to the Lawrence General hospital, is reported as gaining a little strength there.

Parents or next-of-kin of Vale boys in service are asked to leave the names with Richard O'Brien for the new plaque to be erected soon.
